Seen, Heard and Told

By The Editor

As this is being written, the body of Mississippi's senior Senator, Pat Harrison, is being buried in Gulfport. That he enjoyed the confidence and esteem of his people could not have been better shown than by his unique record: he was never defeated in a race in the 35 odd years of political life. He had many close personal and political friends in Grenada, some of whom joined the huge throng that went to Gulfport Wednesday.

The trouble with all of those being mentioned for Harrison's place is that their feet are too small.

The old lady is spending about eight days at Hot Springs, but she will be back tomorrow (Friday), glory be. I must think a lot of her for I went over there and returned between 3 p. m. Sunday and 7 p. m. Monday. Traveling occupied twice the time that I had in Hot Springs.

The best cotton I saw was in the highlands of Tate and Panola counties, even better than the Arkansas part of the Mississippi Delta and better than the valley land of the Arkansas River.

George Lickfold from Tyler, Texas, airmails me to run for Senator, citing what a flour salesman did in Texas My feet are too small.

Had a note from Herbert Allen who stated that he and his wife paid their respects to Senator Harrison as his body lay in state in the Senate rotunda.

The young vigorous Congressman should set a good exemple by volunteering before they send you boy and my boy to Asia or Africa.

I miss the old lady.

While Judge Johnson may turn a deaf ear to our suggestion, we make it anyway: that he apopint Hon. Rowell Billups to the U. S. Senate

Mrs. Mary M. Hooper, formerly a nurse at Grenada Hospital, now living in the swamp at Itta Bena, says she needs the GCW a dollar's worth. Good for you, sister Hooper.

As soon as the equipment already bought arrives, the GCW will be in position to serve its customers needing job work with greater speed and in greater variety. Our new place, with three times the floor space of the old Chinch Den, will soon be full again

Fred Griffin has torn down the old Chinch Den. What will the poor things do, come winter.

Don't forget the racing events at the Fair Grounds Sunday. This time a small admission charge will be made But the main racing will be on Friday, July 4th when there will be "big doings" there.

Homer Williams has now quit traveling and has gone back to nursing the grandbaby.

Miss Hattie Hammonds will receive the GCW during the summer months at her home near Newton, unless the Newton mail rider gets a taste of the GCW first.

Pictured opposite is the Official Family of the governing board of the county: the five members of the board, its attorney (who looks like a big Federal Judge), its clerk, and Sheriff Hayward who keeps order if anyone tries to start anything.

Congratulations to Aline Carothers upon living with Andrew 15 years. We always knew she was a noble woman.

Don't forget the big races in Grenada on July 4th.

Mrs. Mary Smith Died At Hospital Last Sunday

Mrs. Mary Morris Smith, 52 years of age, of 512 Memphis Street, well-known and respected business woman, died at the ESM Hospital at 11:50 a. m. Sunday of complications following an illness of three months. She was the wife of William C. Smith, widely known in political ercles throughout the parish and proprietor of Smith's Paint and Furniture Store on Memphis Street.

Mrs. Smith was born in Graysport, Miss., and was educated in the public schools in that town. With her husband she moved to Bogalusa from Laurel, Miss., in 1922 and in 1931 opened a dry goods and notions business on Austin Street under the name of Mrs. Mary Smith's Store.

The deceased was a member of the ESM Methodist Church and at one time served as Conductruss in the local order of Easter Star.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Smith is survived by one son, Robert Smith, of Mobile, Ala., one brother, F. B. Morris, of Brookhaven, Miss.; one sister, Mrs. H. G. Anderson, of Graysport, Miss., and one granddaughter, Mary Jean Smith.

The funeral service was held on Monday afternoon at the G. F. Poole Chapel and ESM Methodist Church. Special rites were conducted at the chapel and the cemetery by members of the local order of the Eastern Star. The services were conducted by Rev. J. B. Grambling and Rev. A. C. Ingram. Interment was in the Ponenath cemetery with the G. F. Poole Mortuary in charge of the arrangements.

HOLY COMMUNION

The Holy Communion was celebrated at All Saints Episcopal Church Tuesday, the occasion was St. John the Baptist's Day. The Woman's United Thank Offering was received.

FOURTH BLOOM

The fourth bloom brought to the GCW office was from the field of Vollie Pearson, an energetic colored tenant on the farm of J. G. Bingham, north of Grenada.

If wishing for rain would get it, we would have a gully-washer and a chunk-mover.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

All young men, who have become twenty-one since Oct. 16, 1940, will register at only one place and this will be at the Local Board office in Grenada. The office will be open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Historic Structure Grenada Hotel Changes Hands

Effective June 16, the Grenada Hotel was sold by Mr. T. L. Densmore to Mr. H. L. Hudson of Opp, Alabama and Mr. W. H. Bailey, of Dothan, Alabama for an undisclosed consideration.

Mr. Densmore has owned and operated the Grenada Hotel, located adjacent to the I. C. Depot, since the death of the late Mr. Jim Rucks, a matter of twenty odd years. During his tenure, he has made great improvements in the hotel.

Messrs. Hudson and Bailey own Hotel Martin at Dothan, Alabama, and Mr. Hudson owns the Covington Hotel in Opp, Alabama. They plan to spend several days each month in Grenada, Mr. W. T. McKinney, 28 years of age, now managing a hotel in Montgomery, Alabama, will take charge of the management of Grenada Hotel on July 1st. In the meantime, Mr. Densmore will be in charge. No changes in personnel is now contemplated by the new owners.

The transaction was a "lock, stock and barrel" sale, but did not include the land which belong to the Illinois Central System.

Goodman Thanks Colonel W. B. Hoffa

J. A. Goodman of Grenada Industries has written a word of appreciation to Col. W. B. Hoffa as follows:

"Mr. W. B. Hoffa,
Grenada, Mississippi,
"Dear Mr. Hoffa:

"It has just come to my attention that the new street in front of the mill is being named Hoffa Street.

"This is certainly an honor, and surely an indication of the community's appreciation of your whole-hearted and devoted service to the City of Grenada. The street will be a great addition and a fine improvement. It, no doubt, will be here long after you and I are gone; however the name will remain, and no doubt this new street will gladden the feet of the hundreds of workers who probably do not realize today what extent they are indebted to you for your great interest in helping to establish our industry in the City of Grenada.

"May Hoffa Street be a path of happiness for all of us.

"Sincerely,
"Grenada Industries, Inc.

J. C. Dabney Explains Huge Expansion of Phone Plant

From Fort Jackson, South Carolina, to Camp Polk, Louisiana, and from Fort Knox, Kentucky, to the Key West, Fla., naval base, the Southern Bell Company is meeting the challenge of the greatest engineering, construction and installation assignment in its history, Manager J. C. Dabney said today.

He pointed out that military and naval establishments, accommodating hundreds of thousands of officers and men, have required the speedy installation of elaborate telephone systems. And the complexity of the telephone job often has been increased, he explained, by the comparative remoteness of the sites for these highly important defense establishments.

Provision of new service is but one phase of the present telephone assignment. Later this summer, the nation's greatest maneuvers, to be held in the nine states served by Southern Bell, will be coordinated and directed largely by telephone over existing and specially constructed lines, Mr. Dabney stated.

The Aircraft Warning Service, in which civilian observers located at stratagic points report the presence of "enemy" planes, functions entirely by telephonic communication over existing facilities.

Mobilizing materials and equipment for the huge telephone defense undertaking was a major problem in itself; provision of skilled manpower for the various emergency assignments was another. But schedules for telephone construction and installation have been met, Mr. Dabney asserted, largely because experienced telephone men and women accustomed to facing emergencies, have learned many valuable lessons in restoring service fter fires, floods and storms.

According to Mr. Dabney when a decision is made to build a military establishment, telephone workers begin preparations for their part of the job at once. Engineers size up the situation, determine the amounts and types of equipment which will be needed and the Western Electric Company, the Bell System's supply agency, tentatively schedules the switchboard, the distribution cable and other items the project may require.

As the camp plans become more definite, the "go" signal is given to the manufacturing and construction organizations. Often by the time the actual order is placed much preliminary telephone work already has been completed.

In addition to the actual provision of facilities, Southern Bell people are advancing the defense program in other ways, Mr. Dabney said. Many already have been called for active military service and of these a number hold responsible rank in the Signal Corps where their technical telephone knowledge has proved valuable.

Mr. Dabney revealed that the following telephone men from Mississippi are now on active duty in the armed services:

James E. Black, Hattiesburg; P. R. Different, Greenwood; V. T. Gillham, Jackson; C. T. Hana, Jackson; V. K. Henry, Jackson; W. E. Ragland, Greenwood; A. J. Wetzel, Hattiesburg; Paul G. Turner Reunion Held At Eden Church

By MRS. M. S. WALKER

Those from here attending the Turner Reunion at Eden Church in Carroll County Sunday were: Rev. G. T. Sledge, his sisters, Mrs. J. R. Wilson, and Monica Woodfolk, of Arkadelphia, Mrs. M. S. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sledge and Mattie Helen Sledge.

This reunion marked the fourth annual meeting of the Turner clan at this place of worship organized and built by their forefathers and held sacred to the memories of their many descendants. A splendid picture of the saintly old patriarch, Simon T. Turner with his wife, Martha Ann Eddins, and their ten children taken at the beginning of the Civil War hangs at the back of the pulpit. The only member of this group now living is S. D. Turner, of North Carrollton, now ninety years young and loved by all that know him.

About 150 attended Sunday. Rev G. T. Sledge, a grandson of the old patriarch, preaches and other grandsons take an active part. The beautiful woods around the church re-echo with the same hymns of the sweet long ago.

After services a bounteous dinner was spread on the long table, then the visiting, sweet communion of blood ties nothing stranger.

What's Going On In Grenada

This is the seventh of a series of articles dealing with the industries and institutions of Grenada which make for Grenada's progress and prosperity. These articles, too, will answer the pessimist who says, "We aint got nothing in Grenada."

We are attempting to cover the industries and institutions that were not in exisence in 1936 when we wrote a similar series of articles.

Grenada County

While Grenada County could hardly be called an industry and it might not be called an institution, it is one of the greatest disbursers of money in the community. Exclusive of payment for debt service, it paid out about $227,000.00 during the last audit period, and most of this went for salaries and labor and the remainder for materials, most of which was bought locally. The audit published elsewhere will give the details of these expenditur expressed in general terms.

Grenada county gives steady employment with good pay to its elected officers and their deputies; it furnishes subsistence to several score of indigent persons; it gives regular employment to several regular men in each of the road crews of the five districts and casual employment to many men in each district (during the year under review, that is 1939-1940, about $75,000 was spent in road maintenance alone); it buys from the hardware dealers, from the druggists and the equipment dealers, and is one of the best customers that we printers and publishers have.

Educational costs were about $74,000.00. 32 white teachers received $21,310.00; 56 colored teachers received about $7,500; the 32 truck drivers received over $17,000.00. The county pays the City Schools nearly $20,000.00, which sum represents nearly one-half of the revenues received by City Schools.

As for revenue, many of us who kick upon the "high" advalorem rates fail to realize that barely half of the total revenues of the county comes from that source. Gasoline taxes alone are about one-third of the advalorem taxes, while the privilege taxes on automobiles amount to about one-sixth of the advalorem taxes.

Grenada county is in "good shape" financially notwithstanding the pessimists who think that our county is hellbent for the bow wows. The auditor's report revealed that its assets exceeded its liabilities by $848,000.00 plus. An institution with a surplus of that amount is far from bankrupt. Grenada county's credit is excellent, and this good credit was demonstrated when its last issue of bonds sold on a 2½ percent basis. No mismanaged institution can borrow money for 2½ percent. Those who invest their money in large amounts are perhaps more careful than those who invest in small amounts. Bond dealers go into every phase of a county's business, and when they buy a county's bonds on that low basis, that purchase shows better than any other test the county's financial stability.

While the pessimists were howling about the huge bonded debt of Grenada county, Grenada county was pulling steadily out of debt. Grenada county's bonded debt is LESS than HALF what it was ten years ago. October 1, 1930, this county owed $850,700.00; October 1, 1940, it owed only $411,000.00. This reduction of debt took place after many things, including mules, farming implements, household goods, etc., were taken from the tax roll. During the identical period when the debt of the federal government was quadrupled, the debt of Grenada county was cut in half.

The inevitable and inescapable consequence of the exemption of homesteads from taxation (except the taxation for debt service) is that the tax rate will increase on non-homestead property. In the eastern section of the county, the tax rate on homesteads is considerably less than 10 mills.

Expenditures for all purposes in Grenada county have decreased about 40 percent in the past ten years. The total expenditures in the year ending October 1, 1930 were $507,530.00; for the year ending October 1, 1940, they were $311,476.00.

Reverting to the great amount of employment the county provides, it should be remembered that the government, with the cooperation of the county, has provided infinitely more employment than the county has provided. The county, for example, will pay office rent of say $25.00 a month and the WPA will employ a large number of women sewers; the county will furnish equipment and perhaps two men and the WPA will furnish all the labor. While we have no figures available, we venture the assertion that, by cooperation with the WPA the government has paid out 15 or 20 to 1 paid out by the county. WITHOUT cooperation from the county, no work would be done.

As for accomplishments, one has only to contrast the road system of the county today with the road system of ten years ago. If a personal reference will be excused, let me say that I was supervisor in District five ten years ago. I thought I did SOMETHING when I graveled about six miles of roads, without a bond issue, and strictly with gasoline and tag money. "My" little roads have been regraveled, and EVERY other road in the district has been graveled, some sections twice. Similar improvements, if not so comprehensive, have been made in other beats.

For each of the many years of the past the creditors of the county have had to wait from two to six months to receive their money. That cycle is passing rapidly. The county will soon be upon a strictly cash basis.

In six of the ten years which we are discussing, four of the five supervisors now serving, the Chancery Clerk now serving and the Board's Attorney now serving, served this county. Those gentlemen constitute the governing body of the county, and to them should go much of the credit for extricating Grenada county from debt and much of the credit for rapidly bringing Grenada county to the enviable position of a "Cash on the Barrel Head" county.

Big Day On Fourth

Let's all support the horse races to be held here on the 4th.

A few of Grenada men and several from other towns have freely given their time and money to give the people something to see.

No use of Grenada folks driving 50 and 100 miles on that day when they can go out to the Fair Grounds and see just as good races as one could see anywhere.

Good, clean entertainment for all.

Several out of town horse owners are thinking of keeping their horses here during the fall and winter months—which will bring additional money to Grenada. —A good advertisement for Grenada. Loud speakers will be installed—Music.

Let's all help by attending these good races on the Fourth by going out to the Fair Grounds and spending a pleasant afternoon.

Food Stamp Plan

Senator Theo. G. Bilbo was instrumental in securing the passage of an amendment to the relief appropriation bill providing for an additional fifty million dollars for the food stamp program in connection with the surplus marketing administration.—Clarion-Ledger.

Maybe Grenada county and other counties in the Fourth Congressional District, heretofore orphans, will get some of this. It looks like every other district in the State is now being served.

Tom Hederman merits the honor of receiving the temporary appointment as U. S. Senator.

FROM A REBEL HILL TOP

By The Grenadier

In the northwestern section of Pennslyvania there is a region which is the scene of a story told to me in Philadelphia. In the days before the Civil War farming was none too good in the rocky, hilly country in that region of the Appalachian Mountains.

One man in particular gave up the arduous struggle to make a living under what he considered too adverse circumstances. He decided to go west, and prospect for gold, in Nevada and California. In addition to the usual rocky, and hilly conditions which prevailed locally he had a special complaint against that region of Pennsylvania. His water was particulrrly bad. In fact, there was an offensive scum on the surface of the small creek on his land, and his cows would not drink this water.

So he sold out, and started for the far west, with the fervent hope of making his fortune. We do not know what became of this farmer. But what became of his farm is quite a different story. The offensive scum which covered the surface of his creek, and to which the cows naturally objected, was PETROLEUM!

The name of that farm today is Oil City, Pennsylvania. It was the origin of the great Pennsylvania oil industry. And to this day the great oil companies urge us to use Pennsylvania oils for lubricating our automobile engines, because of their superior qualities for protecting metal surfaces against friction.

Of course the moral of the story is obvious. There are always opportunities around us if we will only utilize the sense with which our Maker endowed us so richly. But we always think of these lessons as being applicable to someone else, or to some other county or state, or country. How could anything like that apply to Mississippi, for instance.

In my personal opinion, there are more opoprtunities right here in Mississippi, than exist in the average state in this country. In my travels around Mississippi, in recent months, I have seen several excellent opportunities where an average citizen could make some real money—provided he was willing to WORK! But quite often it is the outsider, the stranger, who sees the opportunities, and who has the initiative, the aggressiveness and the incentive, to convert them into cash.

A striking instance of just what I have in mind was related to me, in my hotel room in Grenada, by the shrewd gentleman who is mayor, editor, and general major domo of the city of Collins, down in Covington County, Mississippi. Jimmie Arrington does not mind telling one on himself, in addition to the excellent yarns he spins about his local friends. One thing about Jimmie's humor, that appeals to me especially, is the fact that it is never barbed at the expense of any of his legion of friends and acquaintances.

All over the South, one may currently see saw mills operating, early and late. The production of lumber is greatly stimulated by the current defense boom. But it is a long time since there was much timber cut in Covington county, the mills having folded up in that part of the state tweny years ago.

Just recently, a stranger came into Jimmie's office, and inquired of His Honor as to the possibilites of geting about twenty million feet of timber in Covington county. He wanted at least that amount, or more if it was available.

Mayor Arrington replied immediately that there was no timber in Covington county, that it all had been cut out many years ago, that the mills had been dismantled and moved away. While the stranger engaged him in conversation, Jimmie began to wonder if his report on Covington timber having all been cut was still true.

To make a long story—and a true story—short: Mayor Arrington started to make some inquiries around Collins. He got busy (which is nothing unusual for him) and went out into the county with the stranger on a survey. In a short time he assisted in securing options on twenty million feet—and evidently they will be able to increase this amount considerabl.

Yet, with the prices higher than they have ben in many years, and with an unlimited present market for lumber, there was no one in Covington county with the vision to capitaliize on what was staring all of them in the face, every time they went out of their homes. They literally couldn't see the woods for trees.

Thanks for this story Jimmy. We are writing it, looking out at the beautiful trees on the lawn around the Capitol building in Washington. It was their attractiveness which reminded me of this incident, for I had mislaid my notes on it. I am just going over to the Senate press gallery. The Senate is in session tonight, and I surely wish you were coming along.

No one need stray to Mandalay,
To Nome, or modern Rome:
To seek their fortune in this world
It may lie near at home.

The Trend of The War

By HERBFRT B. ALLEN

Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, June 23, 1941

Eighty years ago, all the South held its breath while the magnificent armies under Robert E. Lee were sweeping up the valleys leading into Gettysburg, from Maryland and Virginia, along which I have driven this evening. Tonight in Gettysburg, as over all the world, we hold our breath while the shock of two great armies in mortal combat again reverberates throughout the universe.

Late Saturday night, on returning to Washington from conversations with officers at the United States Military Academy in Annapolis, Maryland, I learned of the German declaration of war. What is the significance of the German attack on Russia? For many months, in the columns of this paper, I have written of the conditions of terrific strain under which Germany is laboring. There were definite manifestations of this strain in several parts of the world.

The series of needless invasion in the Balkan peninsula were particularly significant. But the internal situation in Germany is such that the population must be kept in a state of false excitement in order to divert their attention from he perilous positoni into which Hitler has now led them.

To readers of the war news who are not personally familiar with the politics, commerce and geography of Europe, it has appeared that Germany was everywhere victorious, and that Britain was correspondingly unfortunate, to say the least. But exactly the reverse of it has been the case. For Yugoslavia, Rumania, Bulgaria, and Greece, were delivering all the economic materials they could produce, and were shipping them to Germany. So Germany could not increase, but naturally would decrease, these Balkan supplies by carrying war to those regions.

But Hitler has a great army mobilized. He cannot allow it to rust too long, or allow restlessness to ruin its morale. A great munitions machine is turning out supplies for it—German industry, geared to war status, is depending upon war being wagedMand so Hitler has to keep his vast snowball rolling, or it will crush him. He cannot stop what he has created until it shatters itself against defeat.

Every advance by the eGrmans created a greater strain on German transportation lines and fuel supplies, opens their flanks to attack by hostile populations, when the tide definitely turns against the Nazis. And so the British strategy has been to draw Hitler farther and farther away from his bases at home.

England, by a superhuman effort, transported armies from New Zealand, Australia and India across the Indian Ocean. Other armies were sent from Britain, around the vast distances of the Cape of Good Hope, thru the Red Sea, and Suez, to Egypt.

With the magnificent aid of the Royal Navy and the RAF this Anglo-Australian army fought the greatest blitz yet seen, when they rolled up the Italians like a Moslem prayer rug. The psychological effect of this in Germany was tremendous, and the primary bjectives of the North African campaign were a complete success. For in order to restore Axis prestige, at home and among the conquered nations, the German's solid ranks in northern Europe were broken for the first time, and the pressure on the English Channel relieved.

England does not have the great issues at stake in the Near East which the American newspapers are forever writing about. She had little to lose in the Balkan peninsula, and not too much in the Near East. The oil in Irak is important, but commentators fail to distinguish between crude oil at the wells, and refined oil for use in Germany. For Germany does not have either tankers in which to carry the Near East oil, nor refineries with which to refine it, even if it did fall into German hands.

This writer was once in the intelligence service in Germany and Russia, where the present conflict is commencing and has studied these countries at first hand. Therefore a few elementary facts may aid the reader in understanding the real motive for the attack on Russia at this time.

Germany is the central region of Europe. To the west are the densely populated manufacturing and exporting countries, which are more prosperous than Germany, and which Germany regards with great enevy, because of their wealth and presetige, and their superior culture and civilization. Being unable to compete successfully with these prosperous neighbors, her aim in that direction has been to destroy their cities and their industries, crippling them so as to eliminate future competition commercially.

But to the east are comparatively backward agricultural nations. Here Germany has great potential markets for her manufactured goods, and sources of food and raw materials. This is the reasonable direction for German expansion, from the Germany point of view. But it was not the intention to invade the east, until the west had been pulverized and destroyed.

But the unforeseen failure of the Germany Luftwafe to stand up against British aviation caused sensational miscarriage of Nazi plans. The entire German venture is in jeopardy. An iron ring surrounds her now as it did in the first world war, and it is surely strangling Germany. Simultaneously there is the increased effort by American industry, also bent on German destruction.

Therefore Germany must now take the extreme risk of attacking Russia in order to get the supplies she so desperately needs in order to carry on at all, with her present high rate of consumption of war materials and food for her mobilized armies. No action reveals so clearly the extremely critical situation within Germany.

A few weeks ago I predicted that the RAF would commence a terrible pounding of Germany in June of this year. That has now commenced in earnest. Few people realize how valuable is the great Ruhr region, the Pittsburgh of Germany, in which most of Germany's munitions are manufactured—the home of her heavy iron and steel industry. These industrial cities are less than 225 miles from English airdromes.

Canadian training fields are turning out complete crews to man the RAF fighter and bomber squadron with ever increasing speed. With the increase in American avaiation production, plus the fact that the longer the Canadian schools are in operation, the greater the number of pilots Canada can send across to cripple Germany, there was never a time when the Germans could so little afford to release their aviation for use on the eastern front. Any layman can appreciate this fact, and any one with any military education cannot fail to grasp its significance.

Last month I wrote that the turning points of the war had already been reached. I cited the Hess incident, the sinking of the Bismarck, and the capture of Crete, as the turning points. The Hess incident indicated the critical crisis within the Nazi command; the Mismarck's loss was a tremendous psychological blow to Germany morale; and the Crete incident turned American thought finally into the most serious channels, enabling the President to make his famous declaration of the war emergency.

It now becomes clear as to why Hess broke with Hitler. The rupture foreshadowed something of tremendous importance which was about to break, which Hess had opposed so strenuously that his life was no longer safe from Hitler's enmity. For no man lives when he has incurred Hitler's enmity, and Hess knew just where he stood.

And that break turns out to have been Hess' opposition to this Russian adventure, which broke Hitler's firm declaration tht he would not be drawn into a fight on two fronts. But conditions inside Germany, conditions which even Hitler can not control, compelled him to do something desperate—and that was, to attack Russia, in the hope of obtaining materials and food with which to carry on the war.

Germany was beaten from the day the greatly outnumbered pilots of the Royal Air Force drove the Nazi Luftwaffe out of the air, in daylight. Germany never expected the war to go beyond last Fall. The pilots of old England doomed their hopes of victory—they cannot get peace from England—they have no choice but to go on! Hitler cannot turn back now. He cannot control anything but the German forces. The Royal Navy is holding the line. The United States Navy is quietly taking over on this side of Iceland. The American people at long last understand the true meaning of the German menace.

The world is now in balanced equilibrium. The swing, from this month on, will bring Britain into the ascendancy. The factors necessary for final victory are these. Every ultimate effort in Canadian training centers to produce pilots trained to the highes degree of skill: the Royal Navy to hold on until the RAF is paramount in strength and numbers: the United States Navy to take over the North Atlanic sea lanes. American industry to turn satisfactory fighting and bombing plane models over to Detroit production engineers, who will then produce the numbers which the British require. All of these things are in process of materialization. The last two are evolving much too slowly. But it was the same in the last war.

In 1917 I was in the War Department for several months, watching the painfully slow progress American industry made. And the aviation manufacturing effort last time was a total flop. But it will not be a failure this time. The nation will see to that.

Major General Henry H. Arnold, who was a major in the War Department when I was a first lieutenant, saw all of those mistakes made during the last war. He will not permit them to occur this time. He is not only the general officer commanding the U. S. Air Corps, but he is now third deputy Chief of Staff of the United States Army. This time the Air Corps will come through.

UNDER THE MAGNOLIA TREE

By Herbert B. Allen

One of the sorriest figures in the United States today is the one time colonel, Charles Lindburght At long last, the public knows Lindburg as he has always been known by flying men, and by the newspaper fraternity.

In the army Lindburg was never liked by his fellow pilots. In the newspaper world he was one of the most disliked personalities that reporters have had to deal with in recent times.

His general unpopularity among his fellow men, and among those who were really in a position to konw his capabilities, was a sore point with Lindburg. In my opinion it accounts for his actions as no other motive possibly could.

In these times, when military aviation is paramount in the national mind, our War Department demonstrated its considered judgment of Lindburg when it conspicuously failed to call him into active servce in the Air Corps, in time of national crisis.

It is interesting to note that there is another man in the Lindburgh picture, who is personally sour, and is intensely bitter at the American people, for their refusal to return him to the presidency, and give him a chance to retrieve the reputation he lost while in the White House. We refer to Herbert Hover.

What better demonstrations of real character have we witnessed than the records of Alfred Landon, Wendell Willkie, Alfred Smith, and Herbert Hoover? Landon and Willkie took their defeats like gentlemen. Smith and Hoover took their defeats like the small men that they really are in every day life. Like Smith and Hoover, Lindburgh, at heart, is a little man.

However little we may agree with what Mrs. Lindburgh writes, we give her credit for beng one of the most brilliant young women in America today. She is an especially talented writer of English prose. She has a mind of her own, and she uses it energetically.

That could never be said about her husband, Lindburgh. Since his return from his historic flight to Paris, he has been a stooge for other men. His stuff is written for him, and his career is planned by others. The ultimate objective of these is the Presidency of the United States.

We watched, in the city of Washington, the parade of Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover during the roaring nineteen twenties. These three men were selected by the Republican party managers because they lacked marked intellectual power and personal forcefulness. These qualities in a president would have been an inconvenience to the great corporate powers which really governed the United States during those days when the country was headed into the great depression. Lindburgh would be a perfect front for a return to power of those same interests. But Lindburgh has now revealed himself—and that is the end of that so called career.

LINDBURGH

A glad farewell to you, old boy,
You, and your cockeyed wheeze:
To hell with all and sundry of Old England's enemies!
Dieu et mon droit.

With reference to what Allen says about the Hill Council, we recall that Byron Hunter of Grenada was the man who wrote a letter to the GCW, and to other interested parties, and that the GCW editorialized upon the subject until it got tired. George McLean, whom we regard most highly, picked up the ball and is carrying it forward.

Our honest opinion is that the City of Grenada should play ball with the Grenada Industries and give it more room if it wishes to expand. Grenada Industries, Inc., has been weighed and not found wanting.

Me and the GCW.

AUDITOR'S REPORT

Jackson, Miss., June 19, 1941

Mr. D. A. Williams, President,
And Other Members of the Board of Supervisors,
Grenada County,
Grenada, Mississippi,
Gentlemen:

Pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 84, Code of 1930, as amended by Chapter 157, Laws of 1938, we have made an audit of the financial affairs of your county for the fiscal years ended September 30, 1940, nd we herewith submit a report on the results of our findings.

The scope of this audit embraced an examination of all claims, allowances and other documents supoprting expenditures of public funds authorized by your board, together with an adequate investigation into the legal propriety of such expenditures; the verification of colections of revenue by the tax collector and other offiials, and a reconcilement of unexpended balances in the various funds maintained at the following exhibits:

EXHIBIT "A"—FINANCIAL STATEMENT AND SUPPORTING SCHEDULES, Pages 1 to 12.

EXHIBIT "B"—CONSOLIDATED STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES, Pages 13 to 21.

EXHIBIT "C"—STATEMENT OF TAX COLLECTIONS AND SETTLEMENTS BY TAX COLLECTOR, Pages 22 to 24.

EXHIBIT "D"—SCHEDULE OF ILLEGAL ALLOWANCES, Page 25.

EXHIBIT "E"—SCHEDULE OF OFFICIAL BONDS, Page 26.

Following is a condensed summary of the financial statement, or balance sheet presented in Exhibit "A", Page 1 of this report:

ASSETS

Current	$ 44,209.35
Trust	38,537.50
Fixed	1,207.[illegible]
Total Assets	$1,290,189.01

LIABILITIES

Current	$ 30,251.75
Bonded Debt	411,600.00
Surplus	848,35726
Total Liabilities and Surplus	$1,290,189.01

COMMENTS RESPECTING BALANCE SHEET ITEMS

It is to be observed that the aggreate of your cash as shown in Shecdule 1 is classified as follows:

Unencumbered	$33,853.63
Encumbered	10,353.72
Total	$44,209.35

The unencumbered funds are composed of unexpended balances available for current operations, namely: general county commitments, maintenance of highways and operations of schools, and is further obligated for and subject to be reduced by the amount of current liabiltes reflected in the balance sheet. Encumbered funds represent unexpended balances in sinking funds, specically applicable to the retirement of bonds and interest coupons.

RECIPTS AND EXPENDITURES

Following is a condensed consolidated statement of recipts and expenditures for period under review as presented in Exhibit "B" of this report in comparison with that for the preceding period:

REVENUE	Amount 1938-39	Percent Of Total Revenue	Amount 1939-40	Percent Of Total Revenue
Advalorem and Poll Taxes	$142,856.30	56.72%	$138,928.79	53.98%
Gasoline	38,833.83	15.42	41,142.09	75.98
State Appropriation for Schools	28,297.97	11.23	29,087.82	11,30
Homestead Exemption	18,334.15	727	19,962.51	7.76
Automobile Privilege	17,441.49	6.92	21,538.99	8.37
Other	6,084.90	2.44	6,683.83	2.61
	$251,848.64	100.00%	$257,343.93	100.00%
EXPENDITURES
Office and Administration	25,210.01	10.00	22,493.62	8.75
Judicial and Law Enforcement	7,616.42	3.02	8,360.58	3.25
Health and Sanitation	2,625.60	.82	1,713.80	.66
Charity and Welfare Work	7,603.70	3.01	7,154.19	2.78
Farm and Home Demonstration	3,543.80	1.40	3,199.93	[illegible]
Building and Grounds	2,780.52	1.11	11,295.98	4.39
Highway Maintenance	55,757.71	22.14	74,415.81	28.63
Educational Costs	73,823.56	29.13	73,698.50	28.63
Other	26,768.92	10.62	24,767.49	9.62
	$204,631.24	81.25%	$227,007.90	88.21%

The above statement reveals a decrease in the tax collections during the period under review of $3,927.5-1 as compared to the previous period. This is offset by an increase in all other sources of revenue during the period leaving a net increase in total revenue of $5,495.29. Among the items of expense reflecting an increase over the prior period we find the cost of highway maintenance leading with an increase of $18,658.10 followed by the cost of buildings and grounds increasing $8,513.46. Permanent improvements such as new roads and bridges and repairs and improvements to the court house justify the above increases. The total expenditures for the period are only $22,376.66 greater than those for the prior period. It is worthy of comment to note hat only 8821% of your total revenue was expended for the operation of your county. It is interesting to note tha your scholols and roads are requiring approximaely 57.50% of your total revenue for their operation and maintenance.

OFFICE OF SHERIFF AND TAX COLLECTOR

Total valuations were obtained from the assessment rolls of the county. Lists of insolvencies, state owned lands, reduced and erroneous assessments were reconciled with the assessment rolls. Settlements were credited to the respective taxing disrics. The ne results reveal excessive credits of $87.58 for the taxing year of 1939. We found the records of the Sheriff's office being well kept and all collections properly accounted for.

CHANCERY CLERK'S OFFICE

The records of this office were carefully checked. Land redemptions were verified by checking the settlements made to the treasuries against the lists of lands sold for taxes; all such funds were properly accouned for. All records of this office were well kept, all documents, caims, et., were propery filed and easily located. The new system of accounting installed in this office is being properly kept and discloses valuable information necessary to complete an annual report of the operation of your county.

Your attention is directed to the truck and bus appropriation under the subheading "State Appropriation" of Exhibit "B." Section 27 of Chapter 148, Laws of 1938, effective September 30, 1938, requires that 35% of the amount received from the state be credited to your county road and bridge bond and interest fund. We have prepared a schedule for your clerk beginnig September 30, 1938, and extending to the date of this audit revealing the amount which must be credited to your road and bridge bond and inerest fund. This transfer must be made from each supervisor's maintenance fund and it is very important that this be done at your next meeting.

SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION AND CIRCUIT CLERK

The records in the office of the Superintendent of Education were subjected to to only superfial audit. The fund accounts being maintained in the office of the chancery clerk, were covered by our audit of that office. We did examine the records of the superintendent's office and found them to be wel kept and above the average for the usual requirements of that office.

The records of the Circuit Clerk's office were examined and found to be adequate for the purpose to which they are used. The collections of fines, fees and jury tax were properly accounted for.

SCHEDULE OF ILLEGAL ALLOWANCES

Exhibit "D" itemizes all claims allowed by the board to which we have taken exception. This schedule is self-explanatory.

GRENADA COUNTY, GRENADA, MISSISSIPPI, SCHEDULE OF ILLEGAL ALLOWANCES, OCTOBER 1, 1939 TO SEPTEMBER 30, 1940—Exhibit "D"

								$249.00

CONCLUSION

We want to thank the officials of the county and the various employees of the court house for the many courtesies and cooperation extended our representatives during the course of this audit. If we can be of further service, please call upon us.

Respectfully submitted,
STATE AUDITING DEPARTMENT,
J. M. CAUSEY, Chief Inspector,
By MILTON M. BATSON, C. P. A.,
Assistant Chief Inspector.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF THE YOUNGER SET

By The Three Listen-eers

Now ain't it been a nice week for thing to happen? Well we surely think so anyway. So—just pull up your old easy chair and get in a nice position to read the latest news and views.

• • •

Miss Betty Rule, Mardi Gras Queen, most beautiful GHS senior, and just a plaindown good old gal, got back from the Girl Reserve Camp at Rockbrook the other day. We also may add that she was seen with Dr. Hard Horton last Sunday night.

• • •

Recently we have seen a few of the gals around town getting consolation by quoting Longfellow's poem, "The Rainy Day." Their faces brighten up when it comes to the part about, "But behind the clouds is the sun still shining—Thy fate is the common fate of all—Into each life some rain must fall—Some days must be dark and dreary." (I hope Miss Turner Doesn't read copy on this poem.)

• • •

Everyone is hoping that the Hughes sister from the delta will hurry up and come back to Grenada. Their Ford Station wagon had such an influence over their cousin, Little R, that he went back to the delta with them.

• • •

Everyone was glad to see Sonny Hayes home the other week end. Sonny has a hard job before him as he is studying medicine.

• • •

The other night we really didn't mean to be snooping, but we couldn't help from hearing a little GHS girl saying in her prayers, "Please send a good looking man to teach commercial work at the school to take Mr. Watson's place." It couldn't have been ---, could it.

• • •

That cute little girl that you have seen around town with Jean Scott is Martha Ray White. She is visiting the S. H. Garners.

• • •

Lil left for Rockbrook Sunday leaving behind a long string of admirers. Maybe, just for a little while, the other Grenada girls will get a break.

• • •

Mickey Martha, Martha, Frell Bubber-Martha, Susan, Bubber, and Susan that boy that visited her a while back. It just doesn't make sense to us. Does it to you

"Cliff has the cutest little dog named "Jackie." It's bound to be cute because just look at its name-sake.

Betty Esther and Mary Elo have been running together a lot here lately. We'll let you figure out for yourself. We can feel sure it has a good purpose behind it and anyway two heads work better than one.

• • •

The other night Benton offered to buy about eight people something to drink but he added that it must be milk. BOY! was he surprised when they all accepted. Roughly estimating, we figure that his face fell two feet and his pocketbook a little more.

• • •

Mrs. Bill Murray is in Louisiana visiting relatives. We all miss Earnestine and will be glad when she gets back.

• • •

Some one said the other day that they had never talked to a person from the delta that didn't know "Shot" Hill. That's a good record for any one.

Verna Leggett and Frank Matthews are seen everywhere toether. We are glad to see Frank settle down and we want to say that he made a very good choice.

• • •

Marjorie Chapman had as her house guest her little red headed cousin from Canton. They were skating Thursday afternoon.

• • •

Anne Giegie, the girl from Starkville who is visting the Stubbs, has been seen around with David Childers quite a bit. That must be the reason that David says that if he goes to college it's gonna be Mississippi State. Rah! Rah!

• • •

It doesn't look as if Anne Duncan is ever going to stay at home any more. She is now getting ready to go up to Baltimore.

SIXTY MILE HIKE SCHEDULED

Marking the first really long march of the Division, the more than 17,000 troops will leave camp Monday, June 30 for a 60 mile movement to Ocala National Forest, the march to last three days and the division to be gone from camp through July 12. An Army payroll of nearly a million dollars will be turned loose in the wilds of Ocala National Forest 40 miles from the nearest town of an size.

We're spending a lion's share of our time in the weeds. Last week we spent five days and nights, this week we spend three and the next outing will be a twelve day one. If hogs, goats, mosquitoes and red bugs can live in the weeds then surely a soldier can.

Friends of Lt. Col. T. B. Birdsong will be glad to hear that he assumed command of the 155th Infantry recently. He is a veteran member of the 155th and former head of the Mississippi Highway police.

The 25th of this month marks the end of seven months in the army for the Grenada battery. November the 25th. was the date of induction for a year's intensive traing. There is some talk of keeping us for an additional training, six months or a year.

This battery is chocked full of men of vision—that is, men who imagine they see things in the future. There is no use n kidding ourselves about getting out of the army after the year is up—that's one vision that you can put your red check by.

There are over 250,000 National Guard in active service at the present time. The Guards have been boosted to war strength by selective service men. If the N. G. were turned loose what would happen.

• • •

If the N. G. is allowed to return home it will disrupt nearly half of the United States fighting force. It is to be seriously doubted if the selectees with only eight months of training, can take over the job.

• • •

The War Clouds are getting nearer and blacker, so there's no use of having any allusions about returning to civilian life. It would be foolish to think that the War Department would suggest or approve of turning loose the trained men during such an emergency. Prepare for the worst. Dark days are ahead, boys.

• • •

The Dixie Divison pulls out of Camp Blanding July 30th for Louisiana. It is not known yet whether we will return here after the maneuvers are over or not. Some Latrineist has it that we will go to Fort Braggs, N. C. for advanced firing of our big guns—the terrane in Florida is not suitable for artillery firing.

• • •

The gigantic maneuver is to be the largest ever held in the United States. War conditions will be simulated. The only difference in this mock war and actual combat will be that live ammunition will not be used.

• • •

There will be times in the Sabine section when the heat will get you. The dust is hard to stand and there are times when a man wants to call it quits. A fellow can't get in condition by talking about it—that's the reason we're gradually getting ready for any eventuality. A fellow is gonna have to be hard to take what's coming. These maneuvers are not going to be play. They are going to put us in the woods, hustle us from one place to another, and expect us to get there fast. You'll have to be able to take plenty, because you'll get plenty.

• • •

Sergeant Theisman, when asked by private Rico whether to follow the reconnaisance car, said: "Yes, follow it to h— and when you reach the gate turn around."

• • •

Sergeant Basil G. Burt returned to camp this weekend after being in Mississippi on an emergency leave. We are glad you are back, that indicating that your wife is much improved.

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

It will not be long until the army gets some guns and then they will be taking some of these fellows with faulty teeth.

I would not be surprised if Homer Williams did not elect Tom Bailey governor yet. He is still working for him.

There is a growing sentiment in Grenada that an army camp will be located here. Rents rising, other preparations being made. Let's not get our hopes too high, for, should it not come, there is likely to be a serious let-down.

Many of our friends have come in to see our new place. Most of them seem to be genuinely pleased that the GCW has made some little progress. That heartens us a great deal, that our friends are "pulling" for us.

Spurgeon Burke, our erudite Mt. Nebo correspondence, and the undisputed Sage of Cole Creek, was an honored guest recently.

Try us for printing. Reasonable prices, pride taken in our work.

Charlie Campbell, of Duck Hill, poked his head in the door recently.

It's going to take a lot of job printing to keep us busy from now on. We expect gradually to add to our equipment and hope eventually to be equipped to do anything except making large record books. It will take time, of course. Right now we can do 90 percent of the printing that is ordinarily needed in Grenada, tho we are not selfish enough to want that much. There are two other printers here and they too have to live.

We noted Dr. Hill, of Holcomb, stepping blithely down the street Saturday.

Here And There

With Herbert B. Allen

Along the Alabama-Tennessee line, we ran into the Regular Army maneuvers. It is not possible for me to give any accurate information on what I saw, or what I heard, or where I was, for that information may not be published.

However, there are some things of interest that may be passed along. We were talking to two Missisippi boys, George Freeman, of Vicksburg, and Carl O'Neal, of Smithville, and to Corporal Marcus Parish, of Lakeland, Fla. These boys are with the 193rd Tank Battalion of the Regular Army.

This battalion is brigaded with the highly efficient, and mobile, Second Army. While the outfit does not yet have new tanks, they do have one hundred world war tanks with them. For man training purposes these old tanks serve an excellent purpose, for they are most likely to break down under difficult service, and this gives the maintenance men training of more severe character than would be the case if their tanks were new equipment.

The outfit does have brand new trucks, and gasoline supply trucks also. The boys were especialy enthustastic about the new mosquito automobiles, which they call "JEEPS." These will really jump ditches when they are hauling the new anti-tank guns with which the 193rd Tank Battalion is equipped. All of the boys we saw were looking in fine physical shape, were cheerful as soldiers always are, and we were proud to stop and chat with them. In the little village, in the foot hills of the Cumberland Mountains of Tennessee in which we are are writing, at least five thousand of Uncle Sam's finest, are expected as welcome guests. We said WELCOME guests!

Good luck, soldiers--and good chow!

In the Tri-Cities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield and Florence, Alabama, on Saturday night, we noticed that every second street light was out. This is a civic action in the Muscle Shoals district to conserve power for needed defense purposes. There is a shortage of water for generating power in this vicinity.

Large scale war production is taking place here, and practical measures are already in operation to conserve power. For example, factories which are not engaged on war orders are working on Saturday and Sunday in this region, and are taking a holiday on Monday, Tuesday, or some other week day, in order that peak deliveries of power may be made available to plants turning out products for national defense. Defense plants are not working on Sunday at this time.!

On Sunday, at the Wilson Dam in northern Alabama, we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. John D. Sharp of the Tennessee Valley Authority, an electrical engineer who has been with the TVA for twenty-two years. Mr. Sharp explained that all available power in this region is being tied in with the TVA output.

Last week, we were told n Columbus, Mississippi, that the long disused power plant in that city had been recently put into operation, and was now generating power for the TVA. It formerly was a Mississippi Power plant. Mr Sharp is the engineer in charge of all such operations. He recently installed facilities in Philadelphia and Kosciusko, Mississippi, and reported that all power interests were cooperating whole heartedly in the defense program. Good News!

In the lobby of the Edwards Hotel, in Jackson, we ran into Dr. C. S. Steinbauer, the federal government's number one sweet potato expert, and head of the Experimental Station in Meridian, Mississippi. Dr. Steinbauer is much interest in the possibility of a sweet potato industry in Grenada.

He has charge of sweet potato experiments at stations in Maryland, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Louisiana, and Texas. All laboratory tests on sweet potatoes, for all of these scattered experimental stations, are run by the busy technician, Mr. Belton Walters, at Meridian. He does everything there but X-ray them!

In delightful Brooksville, in Noxubee county, we saw the energetic assistant cashier, Mr. J. K. Wilson, of the Brooksville Bank. While Mr. Wilson is a very personable fellow, he held something in his hand which also looked attractive to one's eyes. He held six hundred cancelled checks.

These are the 600 milk checks which are sent into Brooksville every two weeks, by the Atlanta office of the Kraft Cheese Company, in payment for milk delivered to the cheese plant by six hundred Brooksville district farmers and dairymen.

Mr. C. R. Bash, for example, milked 74 cows last May, and he received $780.00 for his milk for that month. Another farmer milking 32 cows received $440.00 for the month of May. This was in spite of the current dry season.

Mr. Wilson is going to make a report on just how much money dairying puts into the pockets of Noxubee County monthly. Dairymen we shall welcome it with much interest.

SHEFFIELD, ALABAMA

Some of our friends like classical music, some are inspired by Stephen Foster and Victor Herbert, while others prefer either the sweet, or hot orchestrations of Guy Lombardo or Tommy Dorsey, now so universally popular.

Last Sunday morning, we were entertained in a fashion which would have delighted music lovers of all tastes. We awoke to the thrilling experience of listening to one of the most exciting recitals that a mockingbird ever broadcast on sun drenched ozone of Alabama.

As our feathered friend sang, he increased the volume and variety of his song until it was apparent to even a stranger that he was either highly excited about something, or was celebrating some special occasion.

Inquiry developed that he was a great pet in the immediate neighborhood, and that while he was an excellent singer at all times, he reserved his superlative performances for those days following much needed rain. Northern Alabama has been even more dry than Grenada county. There had been a much needed rainfall during the night, and the mockingbird was conducting this customary thanksgiving services. Truth is stranger than fiction.

The tones of old Big Ben profound,
Stir something deep inside:
Yet I prefer the mockingbird,
In his fine feathered pride

CHRISTIANBURG, VIRGINIA

In the Christian world it is remarkable how very few places have names in any way related to the founder of Christianity. In travels which have taken us over all of the continents, during twenty nine years of almost continuous movement, we recall only the Norwegian capitol city of Christiana, to have been named after Christ. Some years ago that city was renamed Oslo.

Looking out from our hotel window in the morning, we were greeted with a view which one would scarcely expect to see in this historic colonial Shanandoah Valley of old Virginia. Immediately below us was a lovely Japanese garden, with a beautiful pond, gay water lilies, colorful rocks artistically arranged, and an attractive array of flowers blossoming among the rocks.

Last week in southern Louisiana, we haw to throw away all of our envelopes because the damp, sultry heat caused the gummed baps to stick; and we could not open them. One week after, in Christianburg, we were quite surprised to find the steam radiators warm when we arose. Of course the altitude is quite high in the Appalachian Mountains.!

It has been a habit of long standing to open our Bible each morning and to read the first verse to meet our eyes, as a sort of "verse for the day." We were especially interested as to what the verse would be in Christianblurg. It was a most pleasant message, "Let not your heart be troubled." As the work upon which we are engaged at present is of considerable importance to many other persons, we were very much pleased indeed to read that particular verse, at that particular time.

Incidentally, the Bible is the only book which this writer possesses—with one exception. The other is one of the English classics, much read by members of the Society of Friends, which is our own religious denomination—'Pilgrims Progress.' It is better to have two good books, and to strive to understand, and to assimilate them, than to have collected two hundred, or to have read two thousand, which are read one day—and forgotten the next-

Good books are few and far between,
The works of genius:
Deserving of attention which
They seldom get from us.

With The County Agent

Mr. E. R. Trotman, our former AAA assistant took our very efficient secretary, Miss Mary Alice Kettle, [illegible] last week. Many of their friends witnessed their marriage at the Episcopal Church last Sunday. Both Gene and Mary Alice worked hard during the last seven years to help us serve the farmers of Grenada County.

Miss Irene Nail has been promoted to secretarial assistant in the county office. She has been employed in the County office for five years and knows all farmers in the county.

Mr. N. L. Douglas, our State Plant Board Inspector, reports a good crop of boll weevils in the county. He does inspection work in twenty-two counties. Many of the counties have more weevil damage than Grenada county. Each week he makes an infestation count on a number of farms, including the farms of R. V. Nason, D. K. Hayden, U. N. Hayward, W. V. Dubard, J. W. Bloodworth, J. B. Keeton, and many others. He reports that weevil damage is increasing and advises our farmers to buy their poison before the price advances. He recommends that our farmers do not use the poison until the infestation reaches at least ten percent. (This means that ten percent of the squares are punctured. Three applications of poison should be given at weekly intervals.

A change in our AAA regulations just received will enable our farmers to save summer legume seed (including soybeans) with a combine. In addition the crop acreage will count in the 20 percent soil conserving requirement.

The twenty-five farm men and women serving on the U. S. O. committee to raise money to provide entertainment for our soldier boys report satisfactory progress. Each beat of the county was represented at [illegible] last Saturday. All committeemen and committeewomen should see that everyone in their community (white and [illegible]) have an opportunity [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

Many farmers of the county have expressed their regret that Mr. James W. [illegible] administrative AAA assistant [illegible] from our county [illegible] AAA [illegible]

Mr. Robert W. Hays has been transferred from the State office to serve as [illegible] district [illegible]. Mr. Hays [illegible] AAA [illegible] for six years and was very highly recommended to our county committee.

[illegible] farmer people have contributed very patriotically to the U. S. O. program to provide more civilian aid and entertainment for our soldier boys. Reports of contributions have been received from all communities of the county except Holcomb, Tie Plant, Mt. Nebo and Pleasant Grove. Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

Wonder where Watermelon Hemphill is?

Dear Bro. Spurgeon: most of those fellows you got to subscribe are now delinquent. What must we do about that situation?

When in need of engraved work, see the old lady.

Nichols attended Chancery Court in Winona last week. He was instrumental in several severances of vinculae matrimoniae, if that's proper Latin.

See where Jimmie Arrington said that wimmen are never satisfied: the white ones want their hair curled and the black ones want their hair straightened.

Everybody enjoyed the new column, "Views of the Younger Set". We have more columnists than Carter had oats. That is, if Carter really had oats. We have been taught that Carter made little liver pills.

I am looking for Uncle Sam to call for greater licenses from our saloon keepers to help pay for the war.

Thanks to the Band Boosters, we have another new subscriber, Mrs Frank Moore. They trapped about 25 in all, and that's a good record, for nearly everybody already subscribed for the GCW.

Wing, our Chinese neighbor, has recently added a dry goods department.

With things going like they are debts will either be easy to pay or impossible to pay. Who knows.

Mrs. George Garner, her two boys and Cousin Ludie seem to be having a grand time down on the Florida peninsula. It is grand to be rich.

George Perry, having joined the army, has had his paper transferred to Miss Una Fitt in Jackson, and we therefore welcome this young lady, and hope George gets to be a corporal soon; then on up and up for he, like all the Perry boys, is smart.

Our Mr. Greenfield took a nap Sunday afternoon and felt like the devil afterwards, and blamed it on the nap, of course.

All the Rooks—three of them—got right Saturday. Three birds with one stone.

MT. NEBO NEWS

Mrs. Bell Byars is in Greenwood Leflore Hospital recovering from a major operation.

Miss Norma Cohea is in Grenada Hospital and in a serious condition aftern my appendix operation, her father Coleman Cohea reports.

Sidney and Charles Clarke and Prof. Fred Burke left Monday to attend the Tennessee Aircraft School at Nashville.

Hardy Carter left this morning for Memphis to take X-ray treatment.

Red Byford and his estimable family were Sunday visitors. Red is one of the pillars of Dividing Ridge and it's pathetic that he lives out of Grenada county.

Mrs. Lelia Poyner and Mrs. Winnie Fay Yeager made a business trip to Grenada today.

Fred White, our neighbor, had to set out some extra plates over the week end.

Jonathan Thomas, one of our Beat Four friends and subscribers, payed us a visit Saturday.

Somebody said, since we started calling our new place the "Rat Den" that we will get more cats than Brother Hayes. In fact, a Beat Three friend has already offered a couple of rat-eaters.

Aint they sweet.

We have got to work now if for no other reason than the force of example, as we are right by Stain's Bakery and the Stains, husband and wife, are hard workers.

Preacher Wiley has been added to the probation list of the GCW after a period of sol[illegible]dency and is welcomed back.

Wonder how the matchmaker, Col. Kahn, is getting along with his Cupid role?

Harry Adams was shocked at a plumbing omission he found(?) at 751, and is going to see B. J. Anderson about it. Further we cannot say.

If anyone wants a good cream separator cheap, see Brother W. B. Rook. Free ad.

We have not got run over by a sidewalk bicycle rider yet, fortunately.

Sheriff Hayward and deputies caught several alleged salookeepers last week.

Our overseer, George Overseer Terrell, has a new suit, and looks right nice, but that suit will never have a cleaning or pressing.

We are as close to the public square now as we ever want to be.

Another lamb returned to the fold. Henry Roberts is again a weekly recipient of the GCW.

R. F. Burt put the old lady into the sweet potato business by swapping some slips to pay up his subscription. However the tenant that was supposed to get them has not showed up yet.

While living and working in the old Chinch Den, we did not even have room to save old papers to sell for five cents per bundle, but, up here, we have plenty of room and will have plenty of paper for the colored Christmas trade. Negroes, you know, buy old paper to "paper" the'r homes, and old newspapers are [illegible] in demand when frost approaches.

BRILLIANT CHURCH CEREMONY UNITES IMOGENE WILLIAMSON, J. R. LOCKETT SUNDAY EVENING AT SIX O'CLOCK

Against a background of greenery, relieved by white princess baskets holding graceful arrangements of white summer chrysanthemums and pink gladioli, the marriage ceremony uniting Miss Imogene Williamson and James Russel. Lockett, of Grenada, was brilliantly solemnized Sunday evening at six o'clock at the Forty-first Avenue Baptist church. The beautiful nuptial scene was illuminated by candelabra holding soft electric candles.

The pastor, the Rev. L. L. Boyd, performed the impressive nuptial rites that were exchanged in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

As the guests assembled a beautiful program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Mabel Walker, of Ruston, La., pianist, Miss Dot Ray, Mrs. Hal Soule and Mary Stickney, of Hattiesburg vocalists.

As the notes of Lohrengrin's Wedding March sounded, the bridal party entered.

Mrs. H. M. Baker, sister of the bride of Binghampton, N. Y., served as matron of honor and the bride's niece, Miss Ann Daniels, of Natchez, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Misses Juanice Swilley, Ezelle aHrwell and Mary Stickney, of Hattiesburg, and Mrs. Tommie Lou Little.

Usher-gromsmen were Paul Lockett, Donald Lockett and Junian Lockett, brothers of the groom from Grenad ond Rod Williamson, brother of the bride.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, R. F. Williamson, met the groom at the altar, attended by his best man, Walter Garner of Grenada.

The bride was a vision of loveliness in her bridal gown of white slipper satin fashioned with full gored skirt ending in a short bridal train. Lace bands trimmed the V-neck and formed a lace midriff at the waist. The long sleeves ended in points over the wrist. Her finger-tip veil fell from a tiara of lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a gold bracelet belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Gene Gabriel of Bailey, which is worn by the "Imogenes" in the family on their wedding day. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Baker, the matron of honor, wore blue marquisette and lace, made with full skirt trimmed with insertions of lace and tight bodice formed of bands of lace. She carried peach gladioli and wore a gladioli blossom in her hair.

Miss Daniels, the maid of honor, wore pink marquisite and lace. Mrs. Little ad Miss Stickney wore squa lace and net and Misses Swilley and Harwell wore maize lace and net, all fashioned along lines similar to the matron's and maid's.

They carred contrasting colored gladioli in their arms and each wore a gladioli blossom in her hair.

Miss Walker wore blue lace with a corsage of Columbia roses. Miss Ray wore yellow lace with a corsage of Talisman roses and Mrs. Soule was gowned in a white net formal trimmed with silver and gold threads. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of red Hollywood roses

Mrs. Williamson, mother of the bride, wore a navy and white ensemble worn with matching accessories and romplemented with a corsage of Better Times roses. Mrs. C. E. Lockett., mother of the groom, was gowned in an eyelet embroidered bodice fashioned with a skirt of printed silk and worn with black and white accessories. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of red roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Williamson entertained at a reception for the families of the bride and groom and the bridal party.

A profusion of lovely gift flowers filled the reception suite. In the dining room a lace-draped table held as its centerpiece a tiered white wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. This was cut and served with punch. White tapers burning in silver tapers illuminated the pretty scene and white ribbons leading from the base of the cake ended in white doves.

Cake in white wedding-cake boxes was presented to guests and relatives attending the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Lockett left for a motor trip to Cuba and upon their return will be at home in Grenada where the groom is a prominent lumberman.—Meridian (Miss.) Star.

GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Bryan Revell was the gracious hostess to the members of the Garden Club on last Thursday morning at her attractive "Triangle Ranch" on Hi-way 51, north of Grenada recently built by the Revells. After all guests arrived, the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. Joe Brown, served refreshing iced Coca Cola and cocktail snacks. Much merriment was enjoyed as the members modeled hats made of real powers. Mrs. Ethel K. Thiel received the greatest number of votes by secret ballot on her lovely hat of white gladioli worn most becomingly in toque fashion. She received a lovely blue pottery bowl as prize. To Mrs. Egbert Jackson went second prize, a china topper hat, her hat being fashioned of roses with green leaves as foundation. After business conducted by the president, Mrs. Sam Simmons, Sr., the program chairman, Mrs. Thiel announced a paper by Miss Mary Strahan, "A white and green garden," which was most enjoyable. This was followed by Mrs. E. R. Henderson who demonstrated with beautiful corsages "Flowers as accessories," using various members as models best suited to wear the different kinds of flower arrangements for dress and hair. This was one of the most unique meetings of the entire year and the hostess and program committee, Mesdames Thiel and Stacy are to be congratulated on their ability to have made it such.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

The home of Mr. and Ms. Sam Irby was the scene of a festive and joyous Surprise Birthday party, given by Mrs. Irby in honor of Mr. Irby this week. Those friends who greeted the surprised host were: Mr. and Mrs. Cecil E. Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Irby, Mr. Hiram West and Mrs. J. C. Irby.

High score in the exciting domino games was won by Mr. Hiram West and Mrs. Peyton Irby at one table and by Mrs. Gregory and Mrs. Sam Irby at the other table. Prizes were presented to these skilled ones. An interesting contest which consisted of guessing the slogans of popular products on the market was enjoyed.

Among the useful gifts was a large toy fish which swam in water when wound up, much to their surprise.

At the conclusion of the games, an elaborate decorated cake was cut and served with pinapple sherbet.

TUESDAY BRIDGE CLUB

The Tuesday Bridge Club met in the home of Mrs. Ben Brown Tuesday afternoon.

Guests in addition to the regular members were Mrs. Tom Grant, Mrs. Joe B. Williams Jr., Mrs. E. S. Parks, Mrs. Chas. Ferrill, and Mrs. Caruthers, guest of Mrs. S. B. Caruthers.

When the scores were compiled it was found that Mrs. Williams had the high score and Mrs. S. B. Caruthers low score. Silk hose was presented to Mrs. Williams and lavendar sachet to Mrs. Caruthers. Cool and tasty frozen fruit salad and Coca Colas were served the guests.

DUPLICATE CLUB MEETS

OF COURSE you'd balk at paying the same in rent as you would be required to pay to own a house . . . yet that's exactly what you are doing when you rent a home! No landlord is foolish enough to advertise the fact that his tenant is paying for the house . . . plus a reasonable profit for himself!

As little as ten percent down and monthly payments of $25 or more will pay for a home that is larger and more luxurious than a house you can rent for the same money . . . and rents may go up.

With The FSA

Sharecroppers, farm laborers and tenants in Grenada county, who expect to apply for a loan to purchase a family size farm under the provisions of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's tenant purchase plan should file apiplications now with the aFrm Security Administration, A. R. Summerour, FSA Supervisor, said today.

Seeking a farm of their own, the Department of Agriculture is asking for applications for loans which may be made during the 1941-42 fiscal year so that the approved families will have sufficient time to select farms and make plans for the 1942 crop, he said.

Farm families who filed applications after July 1, 1940 for loans this year, but who were not approved, because of lack of funds, wil not have to file new applications. Mr. Summerour said that thd Tenant Purchase Committee will review these applications again and notify the families if additional information is needed.

To be eligible for Tenant Purchase loans a person must be a bona fide farmer, who cannot secure suffcient credit at reasonable rates from any other source to acquire a farm.

Preference wil be piven to married persons or persons with dependent families, persons able to make a down payment, and to persons who own livestock and equipment necesary to carry on farming operatons.

Approved families will be made loans of sufficient size to purchase the land and construct modern farm homes, out buildings, fencing and other essential improvements. The loans wil be made for 40 years with interest rates at three percent.

Application blanks and full details on the operation of the Bankhead-Jones Tenant Purchase Act are available at the county office of the Farm Security Administration, which is located at Heath Buildng, Grenada, Mss.

With The H. D. Agent

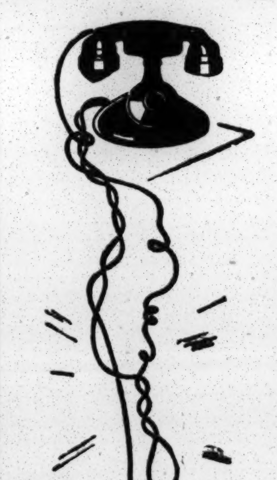
The annual 4-H club camp of Grenada, Tallahatchie and Coahoma counties was held at Camp Tallaha, Charleston, Miss., on June 16, 17, 18. This was considered the best club camp the counties have held. Various subjects were studied along with the camp reation and programs, and all the girls really showed fine cooperative club spirit. Of course, "Monroe" and his helpers certainly won the hearts of the girls with the fine food they prepared for them. After delightful swimming and long hikes studying birds and trees, the girls could enjoy good food. 6 water front men assisted the swimming hours. Camp fire programs put on by the girls were enjoyed by the campers and visitors. Devotional programs were carried on by the girls. Arrangement of flowers, study of pictures, crafts of several kinds were made. With leaders and club girls we had attendance of 81.

Those attending from Grenada county were: Adult Leader, Mrs. Nettie Aldridge; leadership girl, Juanita Smith; Mary Louise Irby; Ecelyn Beck; Elsie Brown; Ruth Thomas; Lavonne Mc Calop; Erma Holland; Juanita Jones; Mary Ann Haile; Sue Ella Mullen; Edna Earl Lawrence; Joyce Cheatham; Deneece Coker; Frances Allen; Grace Flint; Mattie Laura Morman; Elizabeth Johnson; Mary Thomas; Mary L. Abel; Eunice Cunningham; Margie Irby; Sarah Cohen; Alice Tnn Jarrett; Sue Hayward; Bobby Townes and Billy Thiesman of Grenada went as water front boys. Mr. Homer Trussell of Gore Springs assisted with the transportation. Mrs. Trussell enjoying the camp activities Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Williams and two sons enjoyed the camp activities and lunch with us on Tuesday. Other camp personnel were, Miss Frances King, Tallahatchie County Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Ayleen McCormick, assistant district agent, Greenwood; Mr. Bice, assistant Scout Director, Clarksdale, Messrs. Buckley and Bailey, scout directors of the counicl, and Mrs. Velma Neely Grenada Home Demonstration Agent.

AUXILIARY MEETS

The Episcopal Auxiliary met Monday afternoon at the Episcopal Rectory with Mrs. C. S. Liles for the monthly social. Mrs. Liles served delicious punch, assorted sandwiches, and candy. As is the custom, a free will offering was taken. The offering is used for special projects.

Mr. Lyman Richards, of New Orleans, visited his sister, Mrs. Jake Whitaker last week. He is Mrs. Whitaker's baby brother, and is connected with the International Harvester people in New Orleans.



It's worse than it looks!

You'll agree that a telephone cord full of twists and kinks is unsightly and awkward to use—but did you know that it can also seriously affect service?

The conductor in your telephone cord is composed of scores of thread-like wires. They are very durable and, with normal use, will last indefinitely. But knots and kinks create an unnatural and intensified friction which is apt to break some of these tiny wires. When this occurs, it causes an unpleasant, static-like noise on your telephone.

Keep your telephone free from this trouble oy keeping the cord free from kinks. Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, Incorporated.
